

THE WILSON STREET WORD

JUNE 2023

NEWS

New focus on medication reviews: if you've been taking a regular medication for a while we want to check whether it's still right for you. You may well be hearing from us; we're sending out text messages to help patients give us information quickly and easily. You can also send information via our website here

Are your details still up to date? If you've changed address or phone number recently, did you remember to inform us? If the answer might be no, please give us a call to let us know. Alternatively if you have online services, you can update details here

Brightening the place up: New car park lighting is shortly being installed, which should make the car park much more user friendly next Autumn and Winter!

CHILD SAFETY

The Child Accident Prevention Trust have Child Safety Week this month from the 5th to the 11th of June

This year's theme is Safety Made Simple. Accidents are more likely when life is busy or chaotic, so it's good to try to focus on making life a bit simpler!

Local events may be running in schools and nurseries in your area, so check these out!

Finally Button Batteries are a serious health hazard and are found in all sorts of toys. Be vigilant and don't allow toddlers to play with electronic toys unsupervised. Find out more here

CHECK UPS

Did you know we offer check-ups for chronic illnesses, such as asthma, COPD and diabetes, remotely in late afternoon and evening appointments?

Ladies can also access cervical screening in these appointments, which might help if you cannot come in normal opening hours because of other commitments.

If you need a checkup and want to use this service, please let us know

AND FINALLY...

This month we also have Carers Week. At Wilson Street, we keep a carers register and have a carers champion, so if you care for someone please let us know. Find out more about Carers week here
